To ease the process of designing and building your Sedona retreat, the developer of Cor D'Amor has agreed with Building Cents LLC, to be a Preferred Builder in Sedona's newest subdivision. This will ensure that only luxurious, handcrafted homes of consistent high quality will be built in Cor D'Amor. Each homeowner can know with certainty that their personal desires will be realized, their budgets and schedules met, while building an intimate community of long term value.

Building Cents is a luxury and ultra-luxury home builder, developer of communities and a preferred commercial contractor for numerous nationally recognized developers. For more information visit Building Cents online at www.buildingcents.com or call 480-444-2296.

Building Cents overview:

"Our team creates award-winning, timeless luxury and ultra-luxury homes and neighborhoods, combining the best of old world craftsmanship with high technology materials and processes. Each custom home starts with the process of listening and understanding what the desires of our client-partner are. Our design process is thorough and thought provoking to help bring out the best possible views and features of the building lot, conveyed throughout the actual structure and surrounding outdoor amenities.

Where ever possible, we seek to blend the inside and outside of each home into a seamless living space complete with multiple water elements and private patios warmed by outdoor fireplaces. The use of hand selected natural stone and wood are integrated into each design to create a warm and inviting environment. We view technology integration as a natural part of home automation - to be viewed and connected when desired and not as the focal point."

As an incentive, Building Cents is offering a 10% discount off of your lot purchase price for those who start the building process with Building Cents within 6 months of purchasing a lot. This significant discount will be deducted from the quoted bid from Building Cents on the mutually, agreed to building plans and specifications.

Experience the ability to deliver your vision! Ask a Building Cents LLC representative any questions concerning this exclusive Preferred Builder Discount.
